MR. NELSON AFTER THE TRUSTS.

Morgan Finishes His Four Days' Speech on Cuba-Cockrell Prescuts the Petition of Representatives of Indianapolis Monetary Conference-Senate Will Act on Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, April 14.-Much emgress to pass the asked for appropriation of $200,000 to defray the expenditures of the international postal congress to be held here next month. The urgency of the appropriation has been pointed out to congress, but no definite action has yet been taken, though there have been several such provisions inserted in bills introduced. Meanwhile the time for the meeting of the postal anthorities of the world is close at hand and arrangements are being made without contracts, payment being contingent on the appropriation of funds. The foreign delegates are rapidly being announced to this government but the complete personnel of the body will not be known until the opening. Postmaster General Gary has not yet determined on the delegates to represent this country, but will announce them very shortly. Colonel Chaille Long, the African exprorer, has been in Washington some time and will doubtless be one of the delegates. He was a caller on the postmaster general yesterday and has presented his claims. He is a native of Maryland and his availa-

Notice of Amendments to the Pending

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Senator Nelson has given notice of several amendments to the tariff bill. One of these abrogates, after one year, the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty. Another declares trusts or combinations for the restraint of trade or to enhance the market price of imports or manufactures by two or more persons, either one of whom is an importer, to be "against public policy, illegal and and void," and provides for the punishment of the offense by both fine and imprisonment. A third amendment authorizes the president to suspend, by executive order, the collection

WASHINGTON, April 14. - Word reached the navy department yesterday from Commander Whiting, in charge of the Puget Sound naval station, Washington, that the battleship Oregon here after touching at various points in had grounded while approaching the Pinar del Rio, brought seven officers dock into which she was about to go to have her bottoms scraped and painted. The dispatch added that the vessel had bent her frames (or ribs) and bottom plating in the vicinity of the forward indicate whether the damage sustained had been serious. This will be determined by a thorough investigation which Secretary Long has ordered to be made by Naval Constructor Capps, who was the government representative at the Union works at San Francisco, and who had been sent to Puget Sound with a gang of men from the Mare Island navyyard to scrape and paint the vessels. His orders are to report the amount of damage done and the estimated cost of repair.

The Oregon is a firstclass battleship, built by the iron works of San Francisco, and has cost the government nearly $6,000,000. She is 348 feet long on her load water line, 69 feet 3 inches extreme breadth, is of 10,228 tons displacement and had a crew of 473 men.

Democratic Gains Throughout the State. Light Vote.

New York, April 14 .- As a result of a decision of the supreme court handed down a few days ago, declaring unconstitutional the election law passed by the legislature last spring, municipal elections which should have been held in March were held yesterday in a large number of cities and towns in New Jersey. Incomplete returns show more or less Democratic gain throughoat the state. There was little excitement and a light vote was poiled. In Patterson. Newark, Orange, Elizabeth, Hoboken and Jersey City large Democratic gains have been made and a majority of the Democratic candidates elected. Trenton and Rahway the republicans have elected their nominees for the principal offices, but have lost ground in the boards of freeholders. At Cam-den the Republicans were also successful, electing the heads of the ticket and holding the majority of the board of

AMERICAN SECURITIES AND WHEAT. News from the Levant somewhat nore favorable in character brought about a sudden turn in the speculative markets yesterday. Money in London is easier, and there are prospects for floating some large amounts of American securities in Europe, which would not be the case did the foreign bourses consider the prospects of war as serious as they were on Monday. Prices of stocks in New York advanced sharply; but international purchasing of the speculative shares was limited, Minneapolis mills sold on Monday about 150,000 barrels of flour, two mills selling 110,000 barrels; and most of this is for export. This reported increased outflow of wheat in the shape of flour failed, however, to overcome the influence of the news from Europe. Prices again took a downward tendency Crop advices are still discouraging, and farm work is further delayed with reports from Russia and France that the wheat has been considerably damag d in For this occasion, which will occu those countries. It is estimated that 55,000 men will march in the procession at the dedication of the Grant monument. This almost equals the army of Gen. Sherman on his famous march to the sea. This country has never before witnessed such a funeral pageant and it will probably be a long time before it witnesses such another. The conditions necessary to the production of national military hero fortunately occur only at long in tervals in this great republic.

AUBURN, Ind., April 14 .- The impeachment proceedings brought against Commissioners Isaac Hogue and J. W. Batemen, alleging conspiracy to defraud, have been knocked out by a decision rendered yesterday by Judge Marsh, declaring the Littleton act unconstitutional, in that it is ex post facto. The same rule was applied to the case of Auditor Borst, who is serving time in the penitentiary, but still holds the office of auditor.

SUTHERLIN MURDER TRIAL

PLYMOUTH, Ind., April 14.-William Sutherlin, the alleged murderer of Mr. Fetters, yesterday testified in his own behalf. The courtroom was crowded. The prisoner told his story without a break. He said he and Fetters left here Nov. 15 for Knox and on the way home the murdered man left him to call on a woman, after which he said he would go to Silver Lake. Fetters left him at the schoolhouse near which his body was afterward found. He told of his purchasing the mule which was worthless. He killed and skinned it for its hide which he said was worth $2, leaving the carcass on a marsh. The state claims to have a good case, but they have been unable to show the whereabouts of the defendant on the night of the murder.

AcBride told a party of his friend this story: "You know, boys, little people have sharp ears, and they are not at all backward about telling any little scraps of information they pick up. This peculiarity has led a good many parents to resort to spelling words when their young children are present. Of course that sort of thing is of no avail after the youngsters learn to spell. Well, Mrs. McBride and I are in the spelling stage now, and little Freddie is often very much mystified by our remarks to each other. Last night we had 'our new minister to dinner, and Freddy watched the good man helping himself very liberally to biscuits. He thought it a good opportunity to put into use the family verbal cipher, feeling perfectly certain that the minister would find it unintelligible, so he called out, 'Mamma!' FORCED TO THE FRONT. Free Trader Bryan's Nomination Compeli

General Tariff Debate. In nominating Hop. William J Bryan of Nebraska as the Democratic candidate for the office of president the Democratic party has unwittingly and unwillingly forced to the front the issue of protection against free trade. As proof of this it is only necessary to refer to Mr. Bryan's tariff record in congress, during his brief experience there as I member of the house of representatives, and, in order that the friends of protection may have an opportunity to refresh their memories in this respect, we publish this week some extracts from his speeches delivered during the second session of the Fifty-third congress when the Wilson bill became law. Mr. Bryan is an out and out free trader. He was dissatisfied even with the original Wilson bill before it received the 600 amendments that finally enabled its passage through the United States senate. He regards "a tariff of 10 per cent levied purposely for protection" as being "just as indefensible as a tariff of 1,000 per cent." Of the original free trade Wilson bill he said: "I think the duties all the way through this bill are bigher than necessary." But, low as they were, he viewed it as a "step in the right direction." He also said, "I am for free wool;" again. "I believe in free iron cre;" again, "The duty on coal is indefensible." These brief quotations will enable all friends of protection to appreciate the imminent langer to every American wage earner and every American industry that would arise through the election of Mr. Bryan to the presidency.

Contrast the words of the Democratio demagogue with those of Hon. William McKinley, "When there is work there is wages, and when there is work wage earners are consumers, who contribute The best market for the products of our soil." How Mr. Bryan can make the western farmers believe to the contrary -that idle wage earners oan "contribute the bast market for the products of our soil"-it will be interesting to observe. He would close every coal and iron mine, he would let our lumber come from Canada, our wool from Australia and the clothes we wear from Eu rope, or else he would insist that all American labor employed in all such American industries be paid only at such low rates of wages as are earned by labor engaged in similar occupations abroad. Yes these lower wages, he says; "would contribute the best market for the products of our soil."

Bjornstjerne Bjornson, whose son mar-ried Ibsen's daughter, speaks thus of the dramatist's pessimism: "Tosen is no Norwegian. His ancestors were Scotch, as might be seed from this Calvinistic beliefs and his gloomy views of men and life. It is a lamentable fact for the Nor wegians, but pessimism has been brought into Norway by a foreigner."

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order

Washington, April 14.-Much embarrassment to the postal authorities tion of $200,000 to defray the expenditures of the international postal congress to be held here next month. The urgency of the appropriation has been pointed out to congress, but no definite have been several such provisions inserted in bills introduced. Meanwhile the time for the meeting of the postal authorities of the world is close at hand and arrangements are being made without contracts, payment being contingent on the appropriation of funds. The foreign delegates are rapidly being announced to this government but the complete personnel of the body will not be known until the opening. Postmaster General Gary has not yet determined on the delegates to represent this country, but will announce them very shortly. Colonel Chaille Long, the African exprorer, has been in Washington some time and will doubtless be one of the delegates. He was a caller on the postmaster general vesterday and has presented his claims. He is a native of Maryland and his availability as an accomplished linguist may determine his selection.

Smallpox Raging.

Smallpox is raging at Guines, a village of 8,000 inhabitants. During the last week there have been 150 victims. The Garellano battalion while near Siguanea came upon three women who were carrying a wounded insurgent. The Spaniards killed the insurgent and brought the women to Siguanea, Guerillas killed 10 insurgents at Pedrosa, Matansas, stripping the dead of their arms. There have been other skirmishes in that locality recently. On the order of Captain General Weyler 14 well known gamblers have been arrested at Saucti Spiritus.

ACTS OF 1897

The acts of 1897 have been received and distributed in Jackson county. Never before have they been published and distributed over the state in so short a time after the adjournment of the legislature. This is due specially to the quickness with which work is dispatched by Secretary of State Owen and his assistants. R. A. Brown, deputy secretary of state, who has had the work in charge, has permitted no time to be lost from the start and is therefore entitled to much of the cre-

AMERICAN SECURITIES AND WHEAT. News from the Levant somewhat more favorable in character brought about a sudden turn in the speculative markets yesterday. Money in London is easier, and there are prospects for floating some large amounts of American securities in Europe, which would not be the case did the foreign bourses consider the prospects of war as serious as they were on Monday. Prices of stocks in New York advanced sharply; but international purchasing of the speculative shares was limited,

Minneapolis mills sold on Monday about 150,000 barrels of flour, two mills selling 110,000 barrels; and most of this is for export. This reported increased outflow of wheat in the shape of flour failed, however, to overcome the influ ence of the news from Europe. Prices again took a downward tendency Crop advices are still discouraging, and farm work is further delayed with reports rom Russia and France that the wheat has been considerably damag d in For this occasion, which will occu those countries. All the published will give a special low rate for the round seem to favor the holders of wheat, but

It is estimated that 55,000 men will march in the procession at the dedication of the Grant monument. This almost equals the army of Gen. Sherman on his famous march to the sea. This country has never before witnessed such a funeral pageant and it will probably be a long time before it witnesses such another. Laying a Ghost In Siberia.

Mr. George Kennan tells a Siberian ghost story in St. Nicholas. After describing the first visitation of the mysterious ghost (it afterward proved to be a half starved dog) Mr. Kennan says: took refuge at night in the house of a neighboring friend and left me to tackle the ghost alone, but neither in the garret nor in the kitchen did I hear the faintest sound to indicate that the mysterious somebody who walked in darkness and left no tracks was abroad. Meantime, however, the news that a ghost had appeared to Yegor in the barin's kitchen, and that even the skeptical barin himself had heard the "unclean spirit" pacing the floor of the garret at midnight, spread to every house in the village, and the next Sunday afternoon who should appear at my door but a Russian priest, dressed in all his robes and followed by one of the church choir boys, with a basin of water and a small bundle of long, flexible twigs. The reverend father came in swinging a smoking censer and reciting sonorously a selection from the old Slavonic psalter. He marched solemnly around the entry, the kitchen and the sitting room, fumigating every nook and corner where a basin and the brush of twigs and sprinkled the whole house with water after the manner of the Greek church. Having thus performed his official duty, he greeted me courteously, apologized for the intrusion and said that it was his custom to conduct a ceremony of that kind once a year in every house in the village. I was not, of course, a member of his church. But he had taken the liberty, he said, of coming to my house because there were reports in circulation that mysterious noises had been heard in it, and the minds of his parishioners were disturbed.

Mmo. De Cornuel went to Versailles to see the French court, when M. De Torcy and M. De Seignelay, both very young, had just been appointed ministers. She saw them as well as Mme. De Maintenon, who had then grown old. When she returned to Paris, some one asked her what remarkable things she had seen. "I have seen," she said, "what I never expected to see there. The old-time prices for the Daily year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march | GIVE IT A TRIAL. It is and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: Liberal commissions to agents. Subscrib The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own cpinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper purnal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes . incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.

Peach and plum trees are now in full bloom. Our prospect for fruit of all kinds is good.

Much wheat was ruined by the recent overflow, and the upland wheat has been ruined by too much rain.

We now have two telephone companies, which are rapidly forming a net work of wires over the county.

Charles Bergdoll will work for John Ackerman and George Mahurin for John Callicottee during the summer. Wendell Poor has returned from In-brother Richard who left here for his home in Champaign county one week Mrs. Ed. Ackerman arrived from Jackaon county last week and joined her husband who had preceded her. They are now in their new home near Epworth.

Our annual township election is over. The republicans elected every man except tax collector. For constable G W. Cross received more votes than any other candidate for that office on the ticket, those of his own party not excepted. Bully for George.

The protracted wet weather has almost entirely prevented the farmers relatives in Washington county. from putting out an oats crop. Very ew have broken any land for corn yet.

The river at Carmi which had reeded almost to within its banks, took another rise last week as a result of the recent rains and covered the low land along the river again. Families who had returned to their homes on the Bowery" in East Carmi were compelled to vacate them again.

Rough on the Parson.

acBride told a party of his friend this story: "You know, boys, little people have sharp ears, and they are not at all backward about telling any little scraps of information they pick up. This peculiarity has led a good many parents to resort to spelling words when their young children are present. Of course that sort of thing is of no avail after the youngsters learn to spell. Well, Mrs. McBride and I are in the spelling stage now, and little Freddie is often very much mystified by our remarks to each other. Last night we had 'our new minister to dinner, and Freddy watched the good man helping himself very liberally to biscuits. He thought it a good opportunity to put into use the family werbal cipher, feeling perfectly certain that, the minister would find it unintelligible, so he called out, 'Mamma!' " fWhat is it, Freddy?"

" 'Mamma, isn't the m-i-n-i-s-t-e-r a p-i-g?' spelled out Freddy triumphanty. - New York Telegram.

FORCED TO THE FRONT. Free Trader Bryan's Nomination Compels

General Tariff Debate In nominating Hop. William J. Bryan of Nebraska as the Democratio candidate for the office of president the Democratic party has unwittingly and unwillingly forced to the front the issue of protection against free trade. As proof of this it is only necessary to refer to Mr. Bryan's tariff record in congress, during his brief experience there as A member of the house of representatives, and, in order that the friends of protection may have an opportunity to refresh their memories in this respect, we publish this week some extracts from his speeches delivered during the second session of the Fifty-third congress when the Wilson bill became law. Mr. Bryan is an out and out free trader. He was dissatisfied even with the original Wilson bill before it received the 600 amendments that finally enabled its passage through the United States senate. He regards "a tariff of 10 per cent levied purposely for protection" as being "just as indefensible as a sariff of 1,000 per cent." Of the original free trade Wilson bill he said: "I think the duties all the way through this bill are bigher than necessary." But, low as they were, he viewed it as a "step in the right direction." He also said, "I am for free wool;" again, "I believe in free iron ore;" again, "The duty on coal is indefensible."

These brief quotations will enable all friends of protection to appreciate the imminent langer to every American wage earner and every American industry that would arise through the election of Mr. Bryan to the presidency.

Contrast the words of the Democratic demagogue with those of Hon. William McKinley, "When there is work there is wages, and when there is work wage earners are consumers, who contribute The best market for the products of our soil," How Mr. Bryan can make the western farmers believe to the contrary -that idle wage earners oan 'contribute the bast market for the products of our soil"-it will be interesting to observe. He would close every coal and iron mine, he would let our lumber come from Canada, our wool from Australia and the clothes we wear from Eu rope, or else he would insist that all American labor employed in all such American industries be paid only atsuch low rates of wages as are earned by labor eng. ged in similar occupations abroad. Yes these lower wages, he says; "would contribute the best market for the products of our soil."

Ibsen.

Bjornstjerne Bjornson, whose kon married Ibsen's daughter, speaks thus of the dramatist's pessimism: "Tosen is no Norwegian. His ancestors were Scotch, as might be seen from his Calvinistic beliefs and his gloomy views of men and life. It is a lamentable fact for the Nor wegians, but pessimism has been brought into Norway by a foreigner.

THE ORIGINAL ARYAN.

I am the ancient Aryan, And you have done me wrong.

I did not come from Hindustan

I've been here all along.

I never traveled from the east In huge successive waves.
You'll find your ancestors deceased
Inside your own old caves.

There my remains may now be sought.
Mixed up with mastodons,
Which very long with flints I fought
Before I fought with bronze. In simple skins I wrapped me round

Ere mats I learned to make.

I dug my dwellings in the ground Or reared them on a lake. I had no pen, I'm sure of this, Although you say I penned All manner of theologies In Sanskrit and in Zend.

My nature you've misunderstood. When first I sojourned here, I worshiped chunks of stone or wood; My rites were rather queer.

The more my little ways you scan The less you'll care to praise And bless the dear old Aryan Of neolithic days. They've mixed me up till, I declare,

I hardly can report Whether I first was tall and fair, Or I was dark and short. But on two things I take my stand Through all their noise and strife-

I had no higher life. Grant Drilling the Home Militia. Grant left West Point in midsummer nd spent his furlough in Bethel and Georgetown. He was invited by the officers of the militia to drill the troops at general muster," which took place at Russelsville during August of 1844. William Wilson and Peter Wamax are two of the few witnesses living who remember the splendid occasion. It impressed itself ineffaceably on young Wilson's mind because it seemed wonderful, even revolutionary, to see a young lad such as Cadet Grant looked, ordering the pompous old officers about. 'He looked very young, very slender and very pale.

"He was dressed in a long blue coat, with big epaulets and big brass buttons, and his trousers seemed to be white though they may have been a light gray. He wore a cap and a red sash around his waist, and he rode his horse in fine style.

"I was particularly struck with his voice-that is, his way of using it. The old men barked out their commands. You couldn't tell what they said. Noise seemed to be their idea of command, but Grant's voice was clear and calm and cut across the parade ground with great precision. It was rather high in pitch, but it was trained. I could tell feal state and canage's. that, though I was only a boy."-Ham lin Garland in McClure's Magazine.
